Brent Fuller has spent his entire career working for DocWagon as a mediator. He recently switched divisions to increase his career opportunities by taking over a problem resolution task group. DocWagon’s image is very important to Brent and he will do almost anything to protect it, whatever the cause. Brent is something of an idealist even after nearly a decade of working for DocWagon.

Brent speaks in a calm, measured tone with a hint of genuine friendliness. He has something of a casual air when sitting. Even during difficult negotiations, he can be seen sitting back his left leg lifted so that it rests across his right as he leans back, arms resting across the ankle and knee respectively of his leg.

A professional barman who just wants to be left alone by the syndicates, Matty Zorn set up shop down in the abandoned subway developments. He knows people who know people, and serves as a middleman, never asking too many questions and just handing over names and phone numbers. Pushing forty with a vengeance, the Denver native doesn't like to worry about everything that happened before he was born and focuses on the present, thinking as far forward as next month's supply shipment. Matty sells drinks at honest prices to dishonest men, but they all pay in advance. The bartender has been a sounding board often enough that he jokes he should have been a priest but he liked the drink too much to give it up.
Duke’s a happy-go-lucky kind of guy. He knows loud music, custom bodywork, and engines. He likes them best in that order.

He’s had his shop up and running for 8 years. During that time, he’s been extremely careful to avoid getting involved with any of the different criminal syndicates. He pays his protection money to the Triads and the Yakuza, but takes whatever work he’s offered by whoever asks for it.

He’s too intensely focused on his core interests – vehicles and music – to really keep up on much else. So, he’s pretty oblivious to any recent news or politics. That’s especially true for any news of shadowy or underworld activities. He just quietly pursues his passion.
